

PanAfrican Climate Justice Alliance South africa

Championing Climate Justice for a Thriving Africa

PACJA South Africa, a proud chapter of the Pan-African Climate Justice Alliance, stands as a leading voice for climate justice within South Africa and beyond. Established in 2023, we advocate for impactful mitigation and adaptation strategies on the national and international stage.

Our Mission:

To empowering communities for a Climate-Resilient Future

We are dedicated to promoting equitable development and environmental sustainability tailored to South Africa's unique challenges.

PACJA South Africa: Taking Action for Change

Guided by the AACJ Project, PACJA South Africa actively works with marginalized communities. We empower them through education and practical strategies for adaptation and mitigation.

This includes:

- Collaboration with grassroots NGOs to empower women, youth, and indigenous communities.
- Education workshops and training on sustainable practices like agro-ecology.
- Supporting community-led initiatives.

This newsletter aims to inform you about PACJA South Africa Latest project, workshops, where to find us, and more. Keep Reading!

For example, our recent activity involved us collaborating with Sisonke Revolutionary Movement a local organisation in Orange Farm, Soweto, where we hosted a workshop and awareness campaign. Our projects empower communities and build their resilience in the face of climate challenges. Future plans include implementing circular economy projects for further mitigation.

Building a Sustainable and Equitable Future for All Africans

Climate justice is not just a concept; it's a necessity for Africa's sustainable development and the well-being of its people. Our collective efforts will shape a future where all communities thrive in a climate-resilient world. By working towards climate justice, we pave the way for a more sustainable and equitable future for all Africans – improved livelihoods, food security, and a healthier environment
